DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 recites "...from an intake region of the cooling air toward a discharge region thereof so as to gradually away from a top face of said fan blade in a radial-outer direction" (pg 22/ 9-12). It is unclear to the examiner as to what is being "gradually away." Is the scrolling surface gradually bending away from a top face or could the scrolling surface gradually pull the air away from a top face?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-4, as best understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kawashima, USP 4,631,977.

Re clm 1, Kawashima discloses a continuously variable transmission comprising:

- A primary pulley (6)
- A secondary pulley (9)

- A drive belt (10)
- A fan blade (23)
- A scrolling surface (inside of casing 5)
- A case (5)
- An intake region (41A)
- A discharge region (42)
- A top face of said fan blade (23A)

Re clm 2, Kawashima discloses an intake port (41) and an exhaust port (43) that are formed in the case (5).

Re clms 3 and 4, Kawashima disclose a unidirectional airflow plate (40) provided in said case (5).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
